Singing, not rain at Forts des Prairies jamboree

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

Despite fears that performers could be "singing in the rain," Sunday's Forts des Prairies Jamboree at Fort George and Buckingham House Provincial historic site went right to the end of the program without a sprinkle.

About 90 spectators ignored ominous clouds and cool temperatures as they enjoyed vocals and instrumentals provided by 16 performers from as far away as Atmore, Cold Lake and Lloydminster.

Many-time performers Clarence and Blanche Smith of Ashmont, Connie Axell of Riverhurst, Roy and Lane Scott of Heinsburg, Les Bowman of Dewberry, Joe Dubeau of Bonnyville and Russ Kowtun of Lac Bellevue were joined on the program by Harry Mynzak of Vilna, Richard Pittman of Cold Lake, Axell's daughter and granddaughter, Gayle and Cherie Navrot of Riverhurst, Ron Courtepatte and Russel Isaac of Lloydminster, Velma Peace of Elk Point and Jean Paul and Aline Gauthier of Atmore for a well-rounded program.

Music included country classics ranging from Johnny Cash's Folsom Prison to Gordon Lightfoot's Second Cup of Coffee, to country gospel such as I'll Fly Away and He Touched Me to fiddle favourites like Red River Valley and Maple Sugar.

FGBH interpreter Kurtis Nawrot emceed the event and drew names for a number of door prizes, while other Forts staff led a series of tours of the interpretive centre and forts sites. The Friends of the Forts and their small crew of other volunteers served up saskatoon pie and barbecued burgers throughout the afternoon.

This was the final event of the season for FGBH, which closes at 5 p.m. on Labour Day, and will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily as visitors take advantage of the last long weekend of the summer.

Council approves trail beautification project

By VICKI BROOKER

The chamber had been offered a donation of sod, but needed some gravel moved and black dirt put in place in the areas to be sodded, plus, she noted, "We have to protect our investment. We need barricades around the solar array and the wind tower." Later, the chamber hopes to plant trees to protect the solar panel.

"It's not a huge cost, it's mostly work," Smith said, adding that she had already asked public works manager Jay Duffee what he and his staff would be able to do, given their already busy schedule at this time of year.

Mayor Parrish Tung said council "can make a motion to help you, but it will depend on what time Jay has. After that, we can hire help for the project, using some to the Iron Horse Trail grant. This is part of trail beautification."

Economic development coordinator Bob Bezpalko agreed to stake out areas needing work, town manager Myron Goyan to ask Duffee about moving gravel, and Smith to arrange for black soil and sod, Council moved to pay for soil and parking blocks from their trail development grant.

Alternative Energy bylaw

Council gave first reading to their new Alternative Energy bylaw, an addition to the town's land use bylaw. The bylaw is based on one passed by the town of Sundre earlier this year, and outlines regulations pertaining to the usage of alternative energy sources, including solar and wind power. Bezpalko noted that town staff member Wendy Smereka had researched the new bylaw and "showed an excellent understanding of what the town is trying to achieve."

Two other bylaws were also on council's Aug. 23 agenda. Bylaw 680/10, pertaining to unsightly property, received second and third reading, while the town's new animal control bylaw received its first reading.

Garbage pickup

A proposed change to all front garbage pickup did not sit well with Mayor Tung, who felt it could be difficult for seniors and physically challenged individuals to have to move garbage containers to the curb each week.

"How many would want permanent garbage containers in their front yard?" he asked.

Proclamation: Muscular Dystrophy Awareness Month

September 2010

Mayor Parrish Tung signed the proclamation for Muscular Dystrophy Awareness Month at the Aug. 23 meeting of town council, witnessed by councillors Dick Millar, Dwayne Yaremkevich and Bernice Capjack.

Muscular Dystrophy is a group of neuromuscular disorders that has no known cure. In almost all cases, there are few treatments and almost no way to stop the disorder's progression. Muscular Dystrophy Canada is a national, non-profit organization committed to funding research into the causes, treatments and eventual cure of neuromuscular disorders as well as providing services to people with neuromuscular diseases and public education.

WHEREAS: People today have the opportunity to live longer lives because of breakthroughs in medical research, and

WHEREAS: Muscular dystrophy is a neuromuscular disorder that affects many and has no known cure, and

WHEREAS: Only through the support of the community may a cure be found;

NOW THEREFORE: The Council of the Town of Elk Point does hereby declare September 2010 as Muscular Dystrophy Awareness Month in Elk Point.

Vehicle thefts prompt warning

By ELK POINT RCMP
Review Contributors

Elk Point RCMP have received numerous reports of items being taken from motor vehicles parked at local residences. The suspects gained entrance through unlocked vehicle doors. The earliest report was on Aug. 16 with the most recent on Aug. 24.

The suspects have stolen loose change, GPS systems, purses, wallets, cell phone, paintball game, radar detector and other small items. Some of the wallets and purses had credit cards in them and attempts were made to use the credit cards.

Members of the Elk Point RCMP have and continue to canvas local residents door to door.

The Elk Point RCMP would like to remind residents that it is important that vehicles are left secure and with no valuable items in them.

Keeping vehicles in well lit areas at night will also help curb the threat of theft and vandalism.

Elk Point RCMP urges residents to contact the police if they see any suspicious activity in the town of Elk Point and to report if they suspect their vehicle has been targeted by the suspects.

Chamber starts Sept. 15

Elk Point chamber of commerce will get back to work on Wednesday, Sept. 15 with a 6 p.m. dinner meeting.

A proposed Sept. 1 meeting was cancelled when it was felt attendance would be minimal prior to Labour Day.

Back to school means its time to get back to the arena. Thanks to the volunteer fireman for washing our floor last night, doing another excellent job as always. When the alarm rings they answer the call and they never know what they might be facing, just like on the fireman on Sept 11 2001. This year Sept 11 falls on a Saturday and the Elk Point Firemen are hosting their Seventh Annual Fireman's Ball and silent auction, so please come out and support this great cause. This year they have added a comedian and I know we're going to have a good time.

Now back to the rink, lots and lots of little jobs to do as usual before we can put the ice in and we will be needing some help at our regular work bees, patching missing shingles up on the roof, along with cleaning walls and glass, sweeping and washing bleachers, purging out little storage rooms and corners that have a tendency of collecting junk and dust, replacing burnt out lights, changing and cleaning filters and touching up other broken items here and there. Goalie headed for sin bin?

All too often, the heroes that our children look up to are turning out to be far from the sterling characters that we would hope they are.

With the Tiger Woods fiasco still hitting the news, we are now bombarded with another sports celebrity scandal. Nikolai Khabibulin has been found guilty of extreme driving under the influence in an Arizona court, and was still awaiting sentencing at press time.

Whatever sentence the court gives him, the public may well add an "unsportsmanlike conduct" penalty, deeming him no longer worthy of being an example for our young hockey players to look up to.

We all know people who have been charged with driving under the influence, but they are not also likely to be our children's heroes. If major sports stars are to maintain hero status, they should think of the of the example they are setting for the rest of the world before they misbehave.

Sitting in the big sin bin with the kind of major penalty he is likely to earn, he may have plenty of time to reflect on an error in judgement that goes way beyond letting in a finals, overtime, game-losing goal.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Golf trophies, horse blankets and mortarboards

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF AUG. 31 IN...

1985

Jim Baylis won the championship trophy and a color TV at the second annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament, with 16 flights of golfers taking part. Construction was well underway at Amoco Canada's multimillion-dollar heavy oil cleaning plant southeast of Elk Point.

1990

Pearl Bepalko won Alberta Senior Games golf in Hinton, while here at home, Pat Johnson won the Ladies championship, Bill Milholland the Senior championship, Ernie Poiras the Men's championship, and Curtis Porcina and Mark Woytkiw the Youth championships at the Elk Point Golf Club championships. Charlene Baker, Tanya Kenyon and Pamela Veer won the high point blankets at the Elk Point Agricultural Society horse show.

1995

Joyce Larson, Shanna Baker and Lana Graham were the high point trophy winners at Elk Point Agricultural Society's open horse show. Town council was ready for new responsibilities, with the formation of a development authority and a municipal planning commission.

2000

It was business as usual at E-Can Oilfield Services, after Elk Point's largest business was sold to Mullen Transportation of Aldersyde, AB. The Forts des Prairies Jamboree played to a packed house after chilly winds forced the event indoors into the Fort George and Buckingham House Interpretive Centre.

2005

Twenty-five burgundy mortarboards sailed into the air as F. G. Miller's Class of 2005 celebrated their graduation, with Jan Kozicky giving the valedictory address. Devin Moneta, Travis Lindquist and Jordan Cousins brought home provincial sport competition banners to add to the F. G. Miller High School collection.

GUEST COLUMN

Labour Day weekend

Labour Day weekend is arriving this coming weekend. It is the last summer or first fall celebration weekend. So of course, the questions are: "What are your plans for the upcoming weekend?" Of course, one choice is to take in the events at our neighbor town to the west of us. A big parade, horses and cowboys are the big highlights. It is something to look forward to.

Nearly everyone today knows of and celebrates Labour Day. It is celebrated annually on the first Monday in September and to most, it signifies the end of summer and beach vacations. The holiday may mean more than you think. What originally brought about Labour Day was actually a result of the momentous labour movement that occurred in the last half of the 19th century.

In the mid-19th century, labour conditions were extremely poor for most workers, especially those employed in the industrial market. During this time, immigrants were flooding into the United States at a massive rate. Housing was limited and expensive. Many times, several families had to crowd into one small apartment. Most families were forced to depend on their children for additional income. The Industrial Revolution had brought about the mass formation of factories throughout the Northeastern portion of the United States. These factories required the employment of many workers, making factory work one of the most common jobs in the era. Factories were also willing to employ women and children, people who would have a difficult time finding steady employment anywhere else. Factory conditions were very harsh. Most workers were required to be at the job for twelve hours per day, six days out of the week. They were allowed only a small break for lunch. The work was intensely tiring and uncomfortable.

One may think that if the work was so terrible, then why did they stay? With so many immigrants in desperate need of a job, it was difficult to find work. If a person complained, they could be fired and replaced easily. People began to realize that if they wanted working conditions to change, they would have to work together. By the 1870s, workers were rallying together and forming labour unions. Thousands of workers would go on strike at one time, and would proceed to march through the streets demanding better pay and shorter working hours. As time passed, organized labour movements became more and more popular, spreading throughout the industrialized cities of the United States.

More than 100 years after the first Labour Day observance, there is still some doubt as to who first proposed the holiday for workers. Some records show that Peter J. McGuire, general secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and a cofounder of the American Federation of Labour, was first in suggesting a day to honor those "who from rude nature have delved and carved all the grandeur we behold." But Peter McGuire's place in Labour Day history has not gone unchallenged. Many believe that Matthew Maguire, a machinist, not Peter McGuire, founded the holiday. Recent research seems to support the contention that Matthew Maguire, later the secretary of Local 344 of the International Association of Machinists in Paterson, N.J., proposed the holiday in 1882 while serving as secretary of the Central Labour Union in New York. What is clear is that the Central Labour Union adopted a Labour Day proposal and appointed a committee to plan a demonstration and picnic.

The first Labour Day holiday was celebrated on Tuesday, September 5, 1882, in New York City, in accordance with the plans of the Central Labour Union. (They were inspired by an annual labour parade held in Toronto, Canada.) The Central Labour Union held its second Labour Day holiday just a year later, on September 5, 1883. In 1884 the first Monday in September was selected as the holiday, as originally proposed, and the Central Labour Union urged similar organizations in other cities to follow the example of New York and celebrate a "workingmen's holiday" on that date.

As we quote the first line of the song by Rita MacNeil, "It's a working man I am," we can't forget the working man today has earned many improved working conditions over the years. All the contributions that working people do, we all say thank you and wish you a great holiday weekend!
